Mediumship Text

Mary: Hi guides, just wanting some clarity on the previous message. Perhaps it was not from you?

Guide: Dear child, understand that when you are highly emotional and processing that you are open to many influences. There are many, as Yeshua points out, that would have you act rather than feel. Who would have you live in error rather than take steps towards each other in vulnerability.

The simplest way to achieve this, to live this path, is to remain open to your own self in every moment.

Take heed of every interaction, pray often, find yourself in a space of safety within your emotions.

To channel for AJ at this time would seem difficult as you still have many blocks towards him. Focus instead of receiving messages for him, on clearing away these blocks.

Understand that through these messages we seek only to be a gentle hand to guide – we would not seek to overwhelm you with all that is to be done for we do see that you both make progress, each subtle shift is important and instead of waiting for at-onement as AJ suggests, you should celebrate yourselves more often.

This is part of your progress towards God – recognising the loving beings you strive to become. For we tell you there is much beauty in the striving. From where we are we see this beautiful quality in your souls and spirit bodies. Understand that for many it does not exist or at least is not strengthened and nurtured as you both have always done.

We celebrate your grandeur even while error remains, for we see the beauty in your striving and especially the willingness in AJesus. This is what brings him in such close communion with his Father at times – an utter humility that is rare and as yet still not as developed in you, dear sister.

To us you are (both) magnificent and it is the wonder of what you would call your potential that we are awed by. Understand that to us it is not potential, for to us so much of the 'work' is already done. You both have the qualities required to achieve at-onement, now there is only left to feel. We delight in your qualities and understand that this is how God sees you.

Allow the gentle voice of God into your life Mary and you will know it as different from ours. Know that your relationship with God is all you really need to become a fearless and powerful teacher.

Cherish each other – Mary, be willing to feel your own self at all times and be that self with your soul mate. This is what he craves although you can't imagine that.

Tread lightly and focus yourself on God.

Yeshua, celebrate what you have achieved; indeed the greatest of all of this is how close you are now to your Father once again. You cannot understand your power in this earth plane yet – but it is great and we see many changes occurring as a result of it – that you are, as yet, unaware of.

From where we are you are but a breath away from achieving what you set out to do. Your self-judgement and criticism only clouds the certainty of what we say, that already dwells within you.

Sister you must also relax more into what we say to you. Your shoulder hurts now as you doubt yourself and fear the future. Pray to God to help you to remain humble, you can learn from every 'mistake'.

You think now of **name removed**. She has built a shell around the events with AJesus and while they still plague her she has learnt to calm these feelings with layers of judgement, distance and falsehood.

She lacks humility and while her soul still hungers for Truth she resists all Law of Compensation emotions – of which there are many. Learn from this woman. You see clearly her avoidance and stubbornness and how pride has harmed her soul. An older woman who would condescend to you – think about this also. Why do you fear such women when you can see their error so clearly? You still hold the belief that older women can harm you in some way and you feel less than them. Think of your mother and her beliefs about you and what was and is projected at you. You are right there is a key woman in the first century and events you have not yet connected to around this.. start by using your Law of Attraction and allow the memories to surface.

Your connection has weakened so we will leave you now. Celebrate that these kangaroos have come so close to you in order to be with us! Celebrate your desire and hunger for God! Celebrate the changes you have made and those you wish to make!

We have great joy in watching you both. Stay humble and everything will become clear.

With so much love and affection,

Your celestial sisters,
Rachael and others.
